"26 Fairmount Avenue" was a new venue for me. The wonderful thing is that it was chosen as a Newbery Honor book, so it's given me such confidence to think of myself more as a writer. I've always thought of myself as an artist, though — an artist who wrote words that he could draw pictures for, but this is a little different, a little stronger,

26 Fairmount Avenue won a Newbery honor and is the first in a series of autobiographical novels you wrote and illustrated. After publishing so many picture books, what prompted you to write a novel? Td: I got a letter. It was that simple. I got a letter from a fan, asking if I'd write him a chapter book. I thought that sounded like a good
